Welcome

The more things change the more they stay the same.

This well-known expression is quite apropos when pondering the 75th anniversary of National Religious Broadcasters this year. The challenges to free speech of the Gospel that brought NRB into existence in 1944 are even more urgently with us in 2019, underscoring the vital nature of this association and the responsibility that falls to those of us in leadership today to ensure the stability and growth of NRB into the future.

In 1944, the problem of censorship by corporations of radio ministries with unpopular theological viewpoints resulted in a crisis in Christian radio as prominent evangelical voices were removed from national radio networks. Faithful broadcasts like Dr. Charles E. Fuller's Old-Fashioned Revival Hour and Dr. Walter A. Maier's The Lutheran Hour were early targets. In response to that crisis, 150 radio broadcasters came together to form NRB, with a core mission to protect the opportunities of evangelicals to proclaim the Gospel over the airwaves.

As central a communication vehicle radio was in the 1940s, the internet is today's Public Square where the most important issues of the day are shared — and sometimes vigorously debated. As during NRB's founding era, there are corporate interests who wish to squelch viewpoints not consistent with their preferred ideologies, which some of us call political correctness. And, like the early days of NRB, a small number of platforms control much of the bandwidth for that debate.

Indeed, the more things change, the more they stay the same. Now, more than ever, NRB is needed to offer an effective defense of evangelicals' rights to contend for the proclamation of the Gospel today.

At Proclaim 19, we will launch a year-long celebration of our 75th anniversary. The psalmist frames our celebration well: "One generation will declare your works to the next and will proclaim your mighty acts" (Psalm 145:4). We can look back with gratitude to the generation of leaders that founded NRB in 1944, inspired by their faithfulness and all they did to declare God's work, even as we hope and believe future generations will look back approvingly on our work today proclaiming His mighty acts.

I'm grateful for our top-level sponsors — Kingdom, Liberty HealthShare, In Touch Ministries, and Revival Outside the Walls — as well as the many other sponsors without whose support this event would not be possible.

This historic convention of NRB will not be the last time this year we mark this seminal moment for our association. I hope you will recall fondly this occasion in gratitude for NRB's vital role in your work on behalf of the Lord Jesus Christ.

I pray that your time at Proclaim 19 here in Anaheim will be productive and that you will be inspired and better equipped to reach the world for Christ!

Sincerely,

From producer DeVon Franklin (Miracles from Heaven) and starring Chrissy Metz (This Is Us), Breakthrough is an enthralling reminder that faith and love can create a mountain of hope ... and sometimes even a miracle. It's not only the quality of the ingredients we use to build our lives that matter, but the care we bring to the process itself. There are no shortcuts to quality, and we must celebrate the spiritual process that can help us discover our true selves as we craft lives of beauty and wonder.

TV & Film Summit: Where are the Movies on Christian TV? CONVENTION CENTER – MAIN STAGE

Panelist: Tom Newman, Head of Content & Development, Trinity Broadcasting Network

Panelist: Isaac Hernandez, Vice President, Parables TV

Panelist: Greg Bogdan, Chief Operating Officer, Total Living International

Panelist: Tore Stautland, Founder & CEO, The Trillennium Media Group Inc.

Panelist: Jamey Schmitz, Founder & President/CEO of WLMB-TV 40 and YES-FM Radio Network

Panelist: Bobby Downes, Founder, ChristianCinema.com

Moderator: Phil Cooke, Producer & CEO, Cooke Media Group

Moderated by Phil Cooke, the purpose of this TV panel is an industry conversation about Christian television, quality content and how to address the impasse of selling airtime vs selling content. Both TV people and Film people are sellers in the equation and there is no buyer in the current model. What are some solutions to bring quality content and have Christian TV be a viable outlet for film and entertainment content in addition to traditional preaching and teaching content?

Born to Meet a Challenge

In 1943, Christian broadcasting in America faced its first major trial, as Bible-believing Christians were virtually unable to purchase network radio airtime because influential leaders found their viewpoint to be unacceptable.

In response to this challenge, a group of visionary leaders formed a committee, which later became the National Religious Broadcasters. In April 1944, a group representing 50 broadcasters met in Columbus, Ohio, drafting the Statement of Faith, Constitution, Bylaws, and Code of Ethics. In September, 150 leaders gathered at Moody Church in Chicago at a constitutional convention to ratify the first governing documents of NRB. Then in December, NRB was formally incorporated. Ever since, NRB has been a powerful voice for evangelical ministries, safeguarding media access to proclaim the Gospel.

Today's NRB: Meeting New Challenges with a Renewed Vision

NRB has a global reach, serving its members by maintaining access to the airwaves, opening new markets for broadcast, and promoting communications excellence in all media. With headquarters on Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C., NRB maintains a close working relationship with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), the Congress, the courts, and the Executive Branch, representing the interests of NRB members and the audiences they serve. Through its Internet Freedom Watch initiative, NRB also addresses the problem of online censorship of Christian and conservative viewpoints.

Tomorrow's NRB

We continually seek individuals and organizations to join our effort to proclaim the Good News of eternal life through Jesus Christ, to transform culture through the application of sound biblical teaching, and to preserve free speech and religious freedom by keeping the doors of electronic media open for spreading the Gospel.

NRB's mission is to advance biblical truth, to promote media excellence, and to defend free speech. NRB is committed to excellence, dedicated to accountability, and passionate about developing relationships. The threats facing us are many, and the challenge of a lost and dying world is before us. Still, the opportunities today to advance the Gospel are unparalleled. Together, arms linked, we can reach the world for Christ.

A Declaration of Unity in the Gospel

Adopted by the National Religious Broadcasters

February 6, 2009

Preamble

We, the members of the National Religious Broadcasters, acknowledging that our mutual relationships are rooted in the bond we share in Jesus Christ, reaffirm this day our devotion to the historic Christian faith and declare afresh our long-standing commitment to use every electronic medium available to proclaim the Gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Believing the days ahead to hold significant challenges but also providential opportunities, we rededicate ourselves to our high and holy calling, taking this opportunity to expressly affirm the faith “that was once for all entrusted to the Saints” (Jude 3) and to declare our unity of purpose in fulfilling the Great Commission given by our Savior and King. And in the strength of that unity, we commit ourselves to the declarations that follow.

Our Declaration

We proclaim the message of the Gospel as the central truth of the historic Christian faith — the good news that God has rescued sinful humanity through the death and bodily resurrection of His Son, Jesus Christ. All who repent of their sins and believe this Gospel are welcomed by God into a restored, eternal relationship with Him.

We profess that this “good news” of our redemption in Christ is what matters most to us. It defines who we are and supersedes everything else. It is for us to carefully and accurately represent this message in our culture, and we must do so in a way that exhibits kindness, compassion, humility, charity and grace.

We acknowledge that as Christian broadcasters, we bear a special responsibility in this area. We must never lose sight of the fact that our first priority as ambassadors for Christ is to speak about Him — to clearly articulate the Gospel message of redemption and reconciliation.

We recognize our holy obligation to boldly and creatively proclaim a Christ-centered Gospel, rather than a “man-centered” message.

We remember our responsibility to refrain from overly dwelling on secondary matters — those that tend to divide even the household of faith — focusing rather on the message of redemption wrought by Christ Jesus on the cross.

We embrace our calling to proclaim objective truth, as revealed in the Holy Scriptures, rather than overemphasizing subjective personal experience.

We confess that we fail in our high and holy calling when our proclamation of the Gospel is manifested in a way that is harsh, argumentative, or does not fully reflect the kindness, compassion, and humility of Christ.

We affirm that our faith proclaims our ultimate citizenship in the kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, yet we affirm our secondary citizenship in an earthly kingdom and will avail ourselves of our God-given rights and privileges inherent in that standing.

We declare our deeply held belief that religious liberty is the cornerstone of any truly free society and commit ourselves to work within the bounds of our nation’s laws to defend and preserve it.

We fully accept our charge to faithfully obey the command of Christ to preach the Gospel, even if human governments and institutions attempt to oppose, constrain, or prohibit it.
